AWARD WINNING JOURNALISM SERIES
CONTINUES NOV. 29 WITH A REVERSE PRESS CONFERENCE

The Project Watchdog series of media forums will present a "Reverse Press Conference" at 7 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 29, at the USD Hahn University Center.

Panelists (to be announced) from the areas of government, law enforcement and sports will have the opportunity to fire questions at the reporters they most often face when stories break.

In its second year, the San Diego Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, in co-sponsorship with the University of San Diego, seeks to explore the role of the media and the methods by which writers, editors and photographers do their jobs in both print and broadcast media.

The San Diego Project Watchdog series recently received the SPJ Circle of Excellence award from the National Chapter.

All programs are free and open to the public. For additional information, please call Maria Martinez-Cosio at 260-4659 or Jane Clifford and 293-1327.
